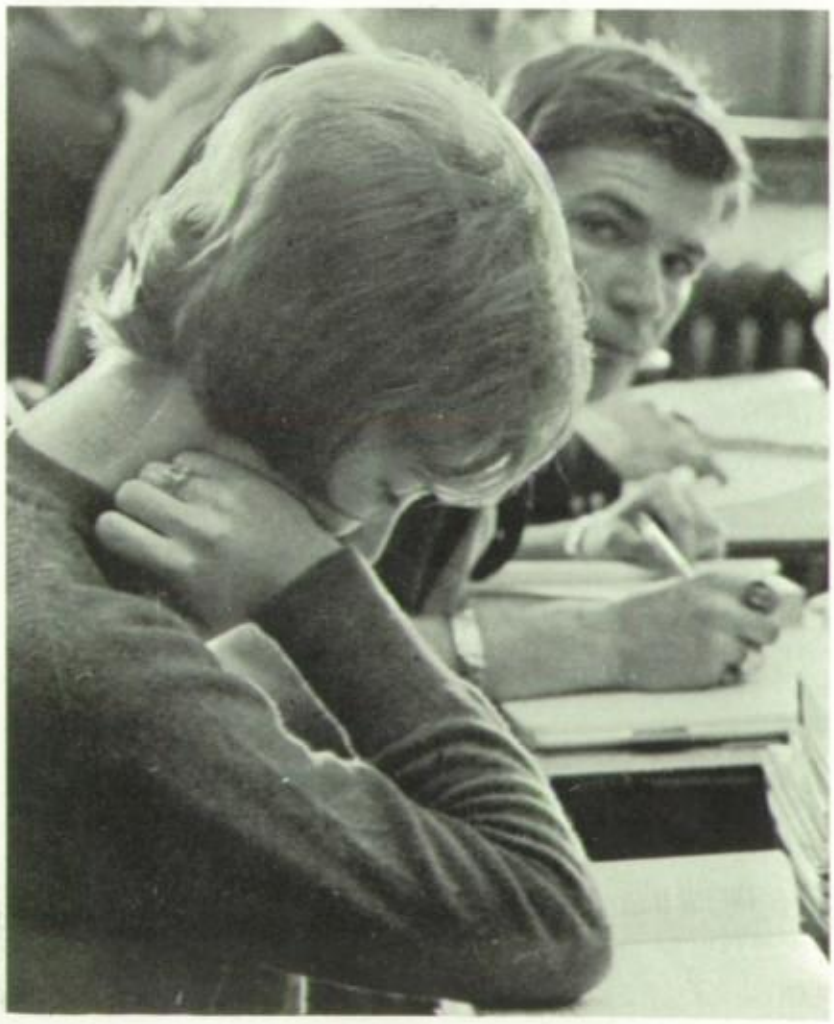
Study hall is a place of concentration for Suzanne Collins.



We, Like Trees,

The sound of trees blowing in the wind is a familiar one to us who live in the Adirondack State Park. We grow up with trees as companions; we depend on them for many things. But little do we realize that we, too, are much like trees.

When tiny seedlings first push their way through the earth, they all look alike. It is only as they grow that they develop the characteristics that will distinguish them from the other trees around them. So it is with people; they must continue to grow and learn if they are to have their own personalities.

A tree needs food to grow; sunshine, water, rich soil. We also need food, for our minds as well as our bodies. That food is education and it is given to us in SRF.

Need Food to Grow

The strong tree has much to contribute. It may provide wood for buildings and fires. It may be a shelter for small birds and animals. It may protect us from rain, wind, and cold. In the same way we can contribute to the world if we develop into strong individuals.

With these ideas in mind the staff of the 1967 REGENT have chosen TREES as the book's theme. The pages portray the many sides of learning and people involved this year. Each of these aspects helps us, like trees, to grow.

Mary Cole and Randy Cox explain the Model Sugar Bush, their entry in the 1966 Science Fair.

Juniors Regan Rockhill and Melody Sheldon make Christmas wreaths, an annual class project.

Dedication

You have given of yourself unselfishly for 42 years. You have instilled in your students a love of learning and a sense of responsibility: these attributes are so important in a student's formative years. Your warm smile and friendly greetings will always be cherished memories to all who know you. Any one who has ever entered your classroom will remember its attractiveness and its displays for nature study.

For these reasons, and for many more, the Staff fondly dedicates the 1967 Regent to you, Miss Laura Lemieux.

MISS LAURA LEMIEUX

Her garden is a favorite place on a summer day.

She sings, accompanied by sister, Mrs. Annabelle Falvey.

Miss Lemieux leaves for Church where she is an active member.

She enjoys entertaining her friends in the lovely home she shares with her sister.

Academic

Group IV practices math skills with Miss Nell Cunningham.

Summer School is New Experience

Miss Charlotte King and group V work on puppet show, "Sleeping Beauty."

Summer was not all vacation for 125 elementary students who attended summer school for six weeks. The program, made possible by the Elementary-Secondary Education Act of 1965, was directed by Mrs. Helen Besaw.

Daily courses were offered in reading, modern math, physical education, and library instruction. Students were grouped according to their needed skills rather than by grades. Team teaching, the employment of aides, and smaller classes resulted in more individual attention for each student.

All books and materials were new. Audio-visual aids including overhead projectors, filmstrips, records, and tapes made the work interesting. Field trips were made to the firehouse and post office.

Susanna Farmer and Judy Marsh learn new words from Mrs. Johanna McConaghy.

Miss Janice Beck, librarian, tapes voices of group V.

For Grades 1 to 6

Assemblies were held each Friday morning at which all students and faculty joined in song fests. A puppet show was presented by group V for other students and parents.

Tests were given at the beginning and end of the session to determine the progress made by each child. Follow-up work was given during the regular school year to help the students retain the skills they had gained. Teachers, parents, and children evaluated the program as most successful.

Group II listens to records played by teachers' aide JoAnne Lepine.

JOHN SHARPSTENE, Supervising Principal, dictates to secretary, Laura Barney.

Board of Education

Throughout the past year, the Board of Education has faced the problem of expanding the school building. The Board, after much research and work, has made a final draft and will provide funds for a new wing which has been approved by the state. Now it is up to the people of SRF. The Board has also agreed to work in co-operation with the Vocational-Technical Center to be located in Malone. Thirteen students will be sent there in September 1967.

Honor Society Expands

On November 18, 1966, seven students were inducted as permanent members of the Harry W. Wagar Chapter of the National Honor Society, increasing the Chapter's membership for 1966-1967 to 12. Twelve sophomores, having maintained the required average, were inducted as probationary members.

In order for a student to be inducted into the Honor Society, he must exhibit the qualities of Character; Scholarship, Leadership, and Service. He or she must also maintain a cumulative scholastic average of 85% or higher.

Busy Press Club has Large Membership

The Press Club has the largest membership of any organization at S.R.F. Students may become members as freshmen by completing a given number of Siren write-ups. They are then given regular assignments and, if successful, may eventually become members of the Siren staff.

The Siren, a duplicated newspaper, is published eight times during the year. Editors are elected by the Press Club from a list of top members and they choose their staff with the aid of advisor, Mrs. Dorothy Mendelsohn.

Regent editors are appointed from those who apply for this job in their junior year. The yearbook staff is not composed entirely of Press Club members, but their experience is vital in its production.

New members take their oaths at the Annual Press Club Banquet, May, 1966.

Seniors Turn Actors for Three One-Act Plays

The senior plays are produced annually in connection with the study of the theater in English class. Each senior participates, either by playing a role or by being on the stage crew or advertising committee.

This year it was decided to do three one-act comedies. The production was directed by Mrs. Nelda Smith and cadet teacher Dale Burnette. The students learned much from the experience and at the same time earned money for the senior trip.

"Sweet (?) Sixteen": Ken Susice can't convince other members of the cast that he really is.

Ken ignores Vivian Chapman as she threatens blackmail.

The stage crew creates fireplace used in "A Date for Bobby Sox."

Kindergarten presents their act for the carnival led by April Susice and Julie Wever.

Mrs. Lemieux and Gary Smith assume their positions at the popcorn machine.

Third grade performs Oriental act during the Main show.

Seniors Sponsor Carnival

Pizzeria: Debbie Tharrett displays one of her "Homemade" pizzas.

Funny Fotos: Harry Arcadi and Joan Ploof prepare to photograph two "outlaws".

"Send the seniors to Washington," chants Mrs. Giffin.

Snowmobile rides are a favorite event for carnival goers.

James Baker and Charles Forkey are winners of the snowshoe race.

King Jim Parker and Queen Kathy Cox enjoy the carnival supper.

Winter Carnival Boosts S.C. Treasury

Ralph Debuque, Jim Parker, and Tim Lucas are lively cheerleaders.

Dean Trotter referees the cheerleaders' basketball game.

Sports

Soccer Organized As New Sport

A soccer team was organized this year under Mr. Pierce. Any boy, who wished to, was allowed to play as it was not a league team.

The boys played one scrimmage game with the Chateaugay team, and one inter-squad game for S.R.F. students. The purpose was to gain experience; it is hoped that the team will be accepted into a league next year.

The boys do warm-up exercises, then listen as Mr. Pierce explains a play.

And I watch the bright orb, the sun.
It slowly moves to the westward horizon
where tall, dark pines stand waiting.
Why must they keep their nightly rendezvous?
The tall pines, and the sun now red?
Why must the darkness come?
Perhaps this time they'll think of me,
Of the loneliness that engulfs me when they meet and mingle in the West.
